Circles of when or how or why

Thoughts one step ahead of your leading foot, you chase the what that you are becoming, following reflections of the where you have been, and asking if that's all the who that you are . . .

waiting . . . or running blindly without direction . . . waiting and running for something that won't lead you back to where you've already been . . . starting over again and finding all is and is not — is always forever and is never again.

a procession of changes, receding horizons — a new day's frame of references you dream in two existences and for yourself live neither . . .

Circles

Introduction: David Willingham

Dizzying circles, a carousel ride . . .

the colors flash by like cars on a hot Atlanta weekend, your lover's kiss lingers like a warm, summer sun leisure hours playing as fast as rock bands and one-night stands when the beer and wine flowed free . . .

But even in spinning around
You know that there is more than empty revolutions, getting dizzy-drunk with freedom.

The time may come when you will have to stretch out your hand,
grab for the golden ring,
and win the prize that waits,

Change horses, perhaps — dismount — but what horse will you ride, and where or when will we arrive or catch the horse to peace

The wild hours seem to never fade away

But before the last song is played . . .

Seek out one face in the blur and focus,
if only for a time

Now sow the seeds,
plan the harvest later . . .

and facing new directions, step confidently into the larger world of circles

Caught in the turning!

A perpetual motion of interlocking opposites, geared in acceptance of a synchronized mesh

Our sphere of influence forms a patterned movement standardized for automotive efficiency

We march to the step of increased production, endless parades of assembly-line minds

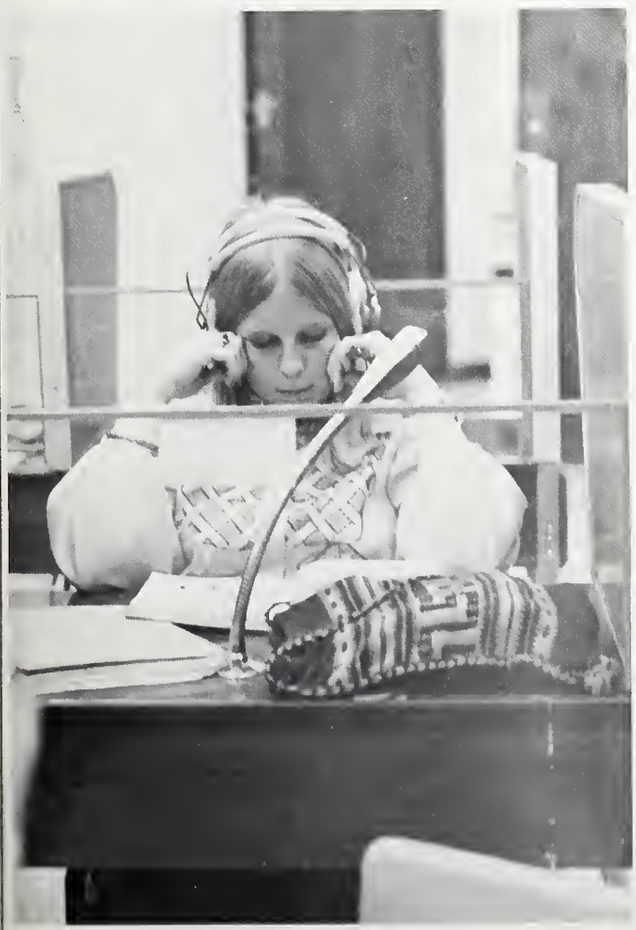
Cogs battle for revered position in the social mechanism, interdependent in their hurried race to nowhere



Some would escape the machine . . .
become unpatterned twists in a broken system

Like planets out of tune, they soon know
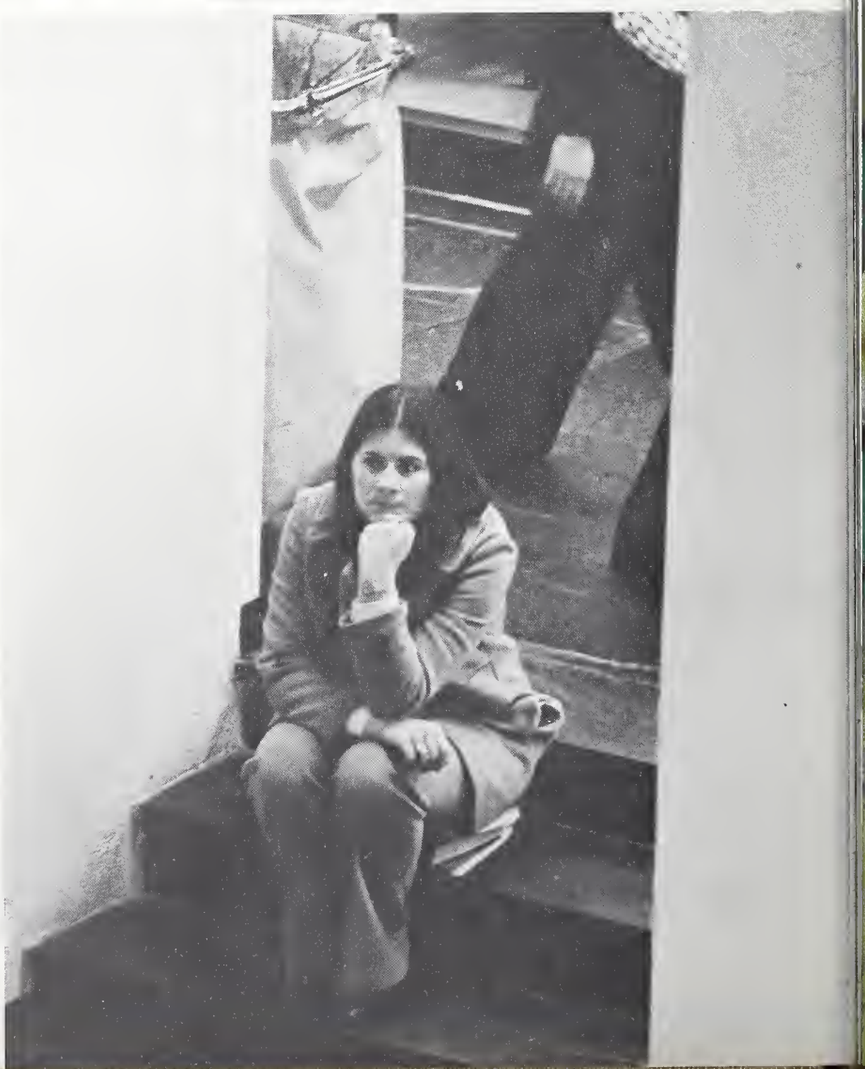
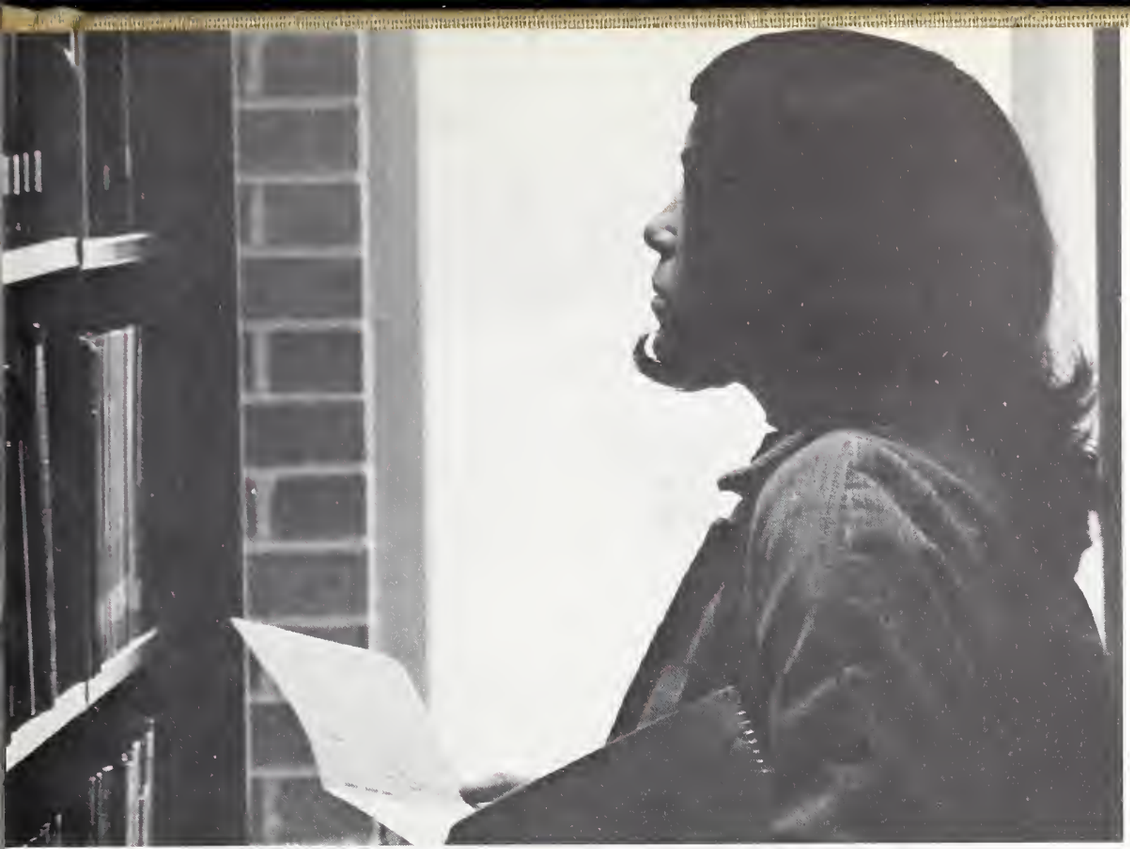
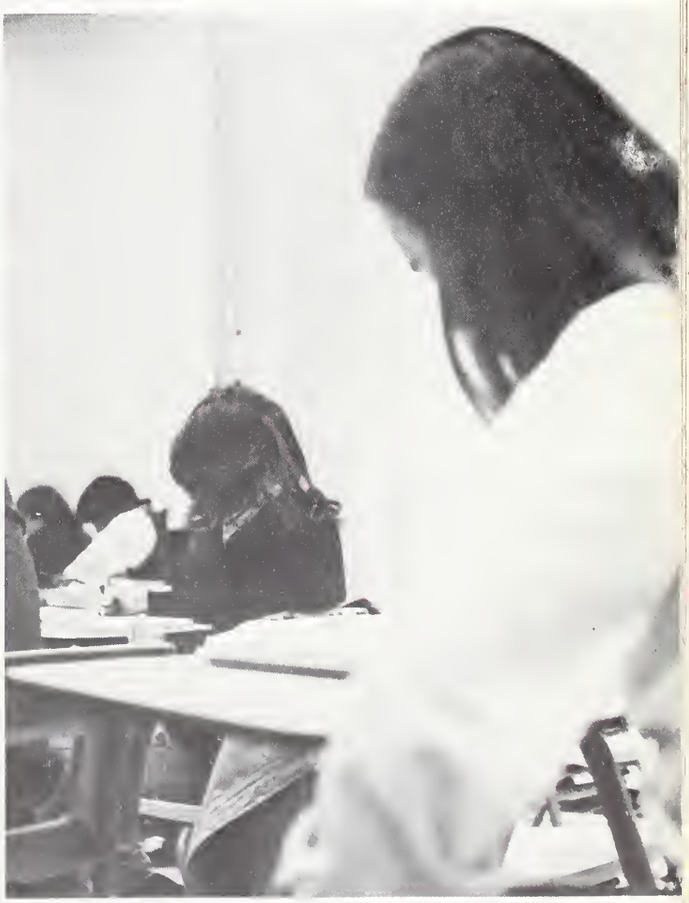
the futility of discord,

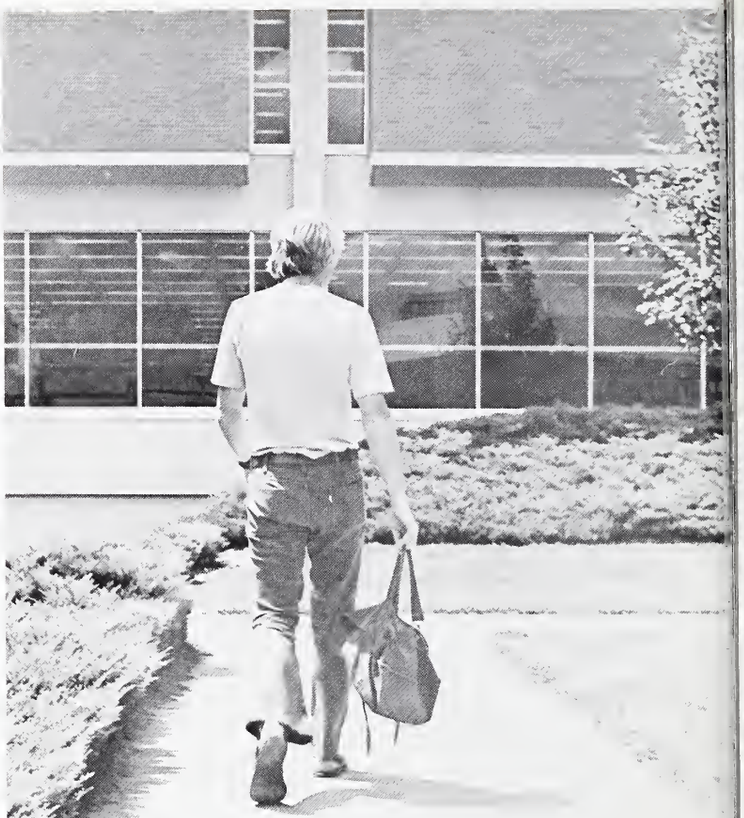






and fit smoothly back in gear,

Or spin a loner's freedom . . .



for they can be replaced

Dancing in a speckled wasteland, we light on islands cast random in a sea of troubles,
each a splash away from our continent of security.

Shy steps wetted with anticipation or leaps of adventure linking a walk through unknown places that slowly sink to show an old unchanging sea

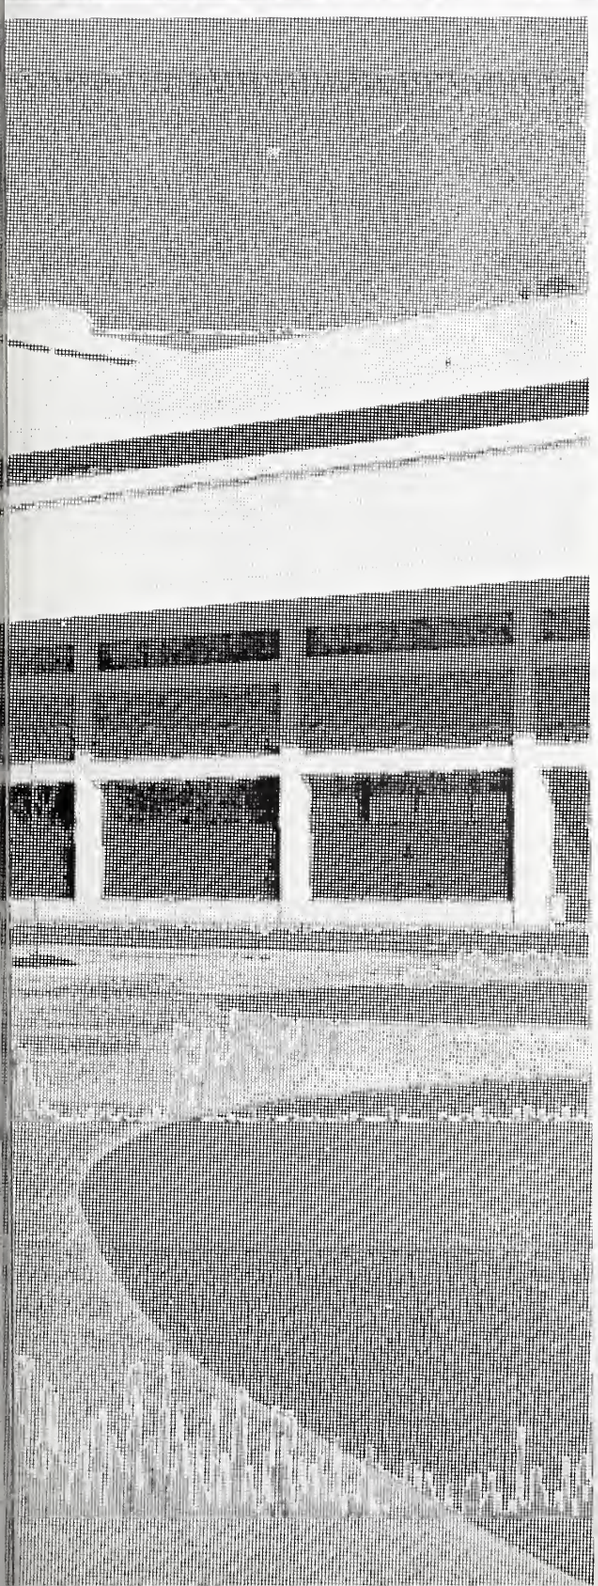
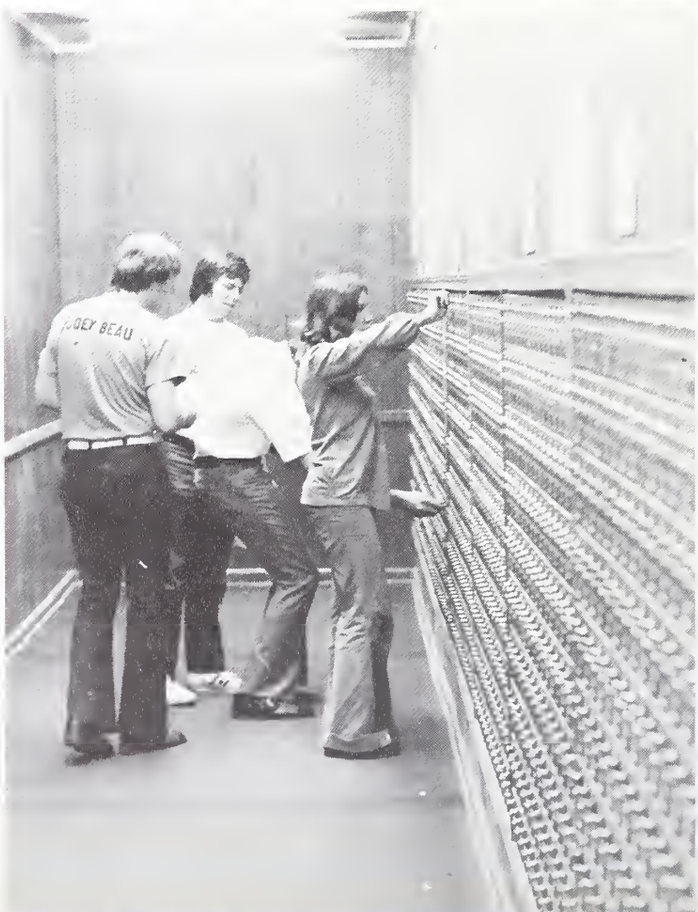
Isles of expectation
so distanced as to be unseen
no farther than a hazy memory

While here, we rest upon an island of seclusion . . .

or balance on a passing discovery

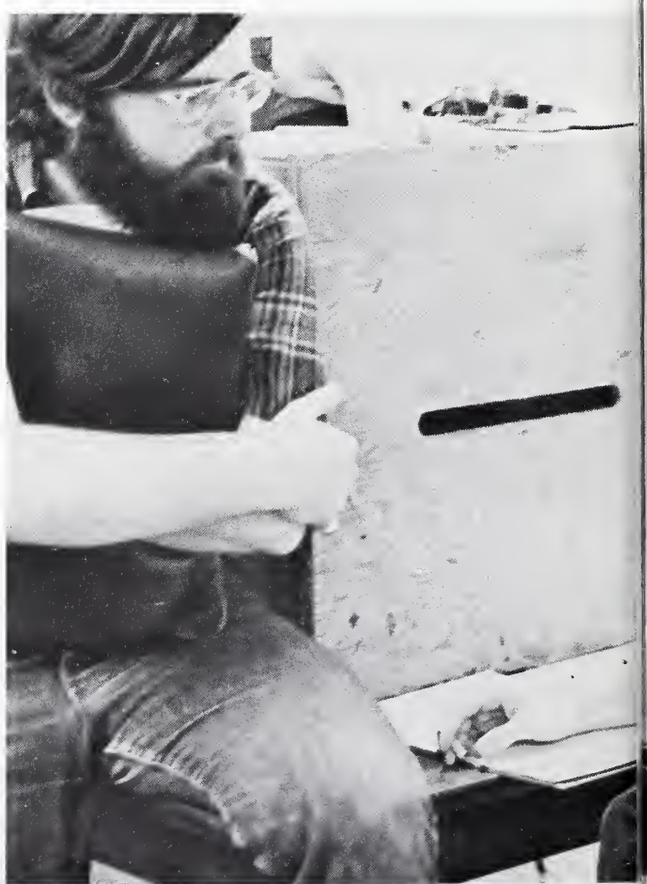


Some of us are matriculating in a school for the blind . . .

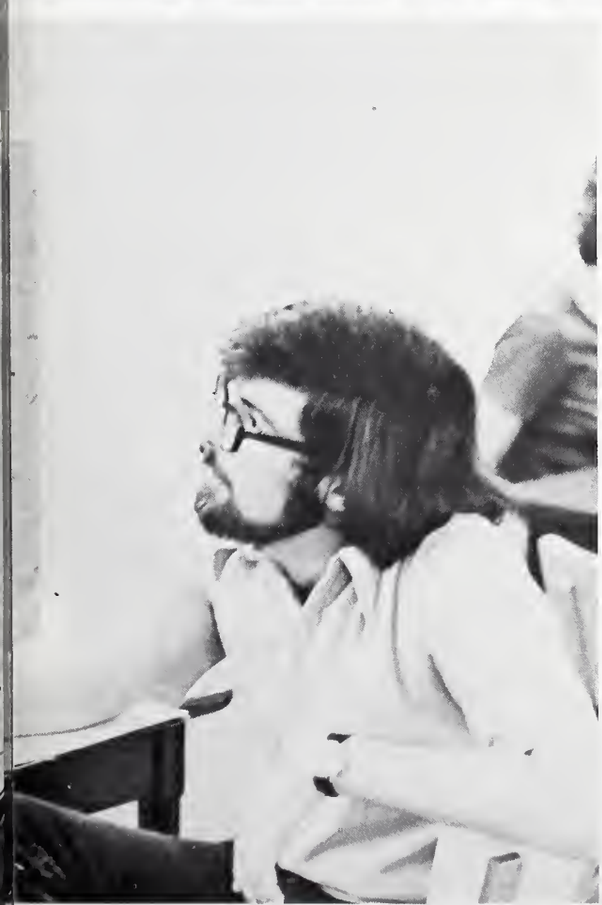


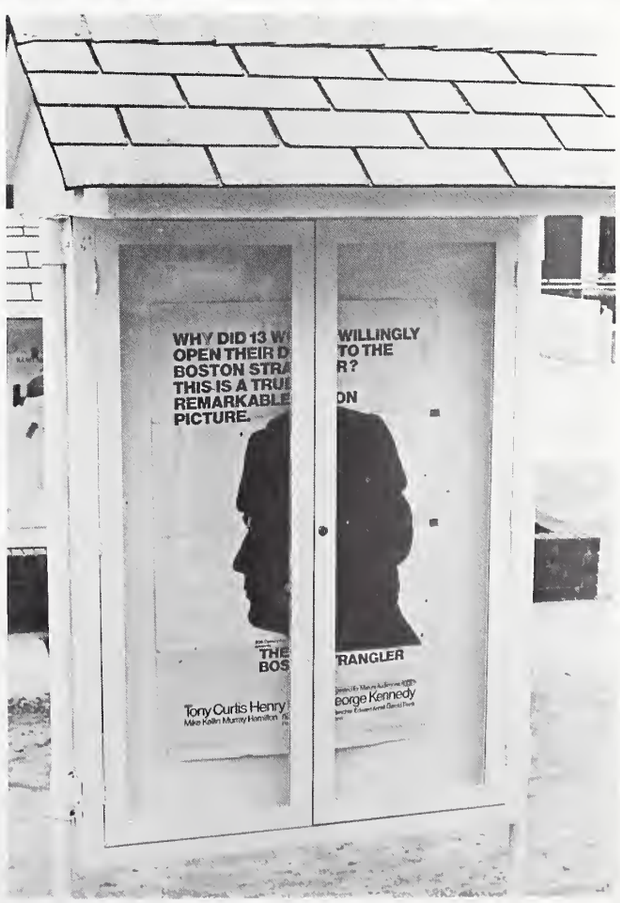
While others move forward in deliberate quest of their holy grail

We question many truths,



ɔut sidestep many falsehoods





The walls around us offer heights to be scaled, but we often choose the security of the familiar . . .

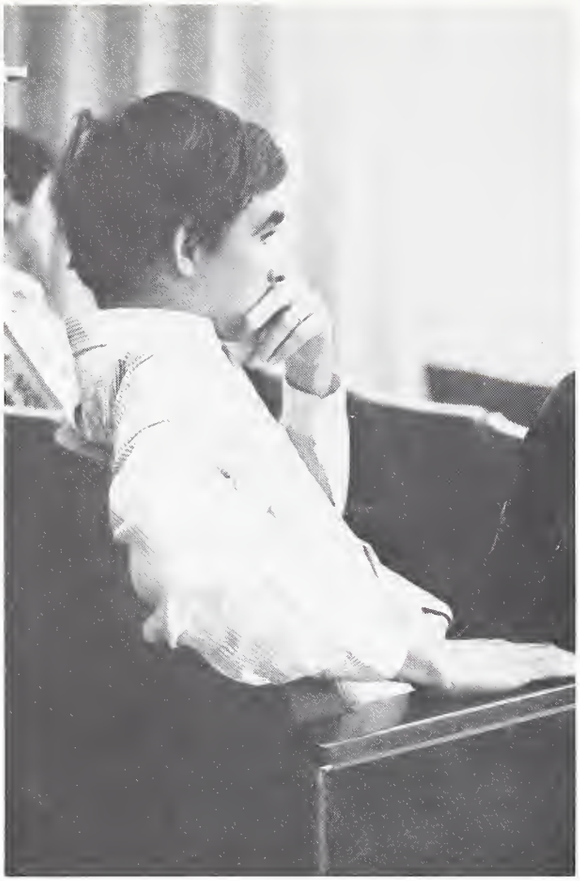
We seek truth, but on our own terms



Is this period valid?

Can we justify ourselves?

Or shall truer songs stir us and this time pass away?

The Homecoming parade travelled from Carrollton Junior High School through the downtown area, out Maple Street and came to a final stop at the college gym. The Carrollton High Band provided the musical background for the entries of cars and floats sponsored by the fraternities, sororities, and clubs of the college. Sigma Nu won the float competition by contributing the best float to what has been called "the best parade ever."

Brenda Smith, a junior from Rome, majoring in Special Education, was named 1973 Homecoming Queen at West Georgia. She is Miss Black Student Alliance and also competed in the Miss West Georgia Pageant. The others elected to the court were Janet Sidney, Judy Gordon, Cynthia Trammel, and Mary Todd.

Because of snow, the basketball game against Georgia Southwestern had to be rescheduled, but the Braves successfully defeated the Hurricanes by a score of 99 to 86.

On Saturday night, concluding the Homecoming activities, a large crowd of students danced to the music of the "Impact of Brass" from Miami, Florida.

For those who participated, last year's Spring Fling was a big reality and its enjoyment will not easily be forgotten. The week was filled with concerts, races, and even an outside buffet.

The soap box derby race down Perimeter Road was won by the Alpha Tau Omega entry. The "Coffin Car" from Alpha Kappa Psi won the trophy for the "Most Original Entry."

The pond was the scene for the innertube race, and the entrants, using paddles, wooden blocks, hands, and feet propelled themselves from one side to the other. All most of the students got out of it was "wet."

The tricycle race caused a reversion back to childhood and demonstrated that some had not lost the old talent of being the "fastest kid on the block." Gail Bullock, representing Phi Mu, won the sorority race while Bucky Walton captured first place for Pi Kappa Alpha in the fraternity competition.

The March of Dimes got a boost at a benefit concert featuring three bands. Other concerts during the week included Charlie Byrd, the Piedmont Chamber Orchestra, George Carlin, and Denny Brooks. Spring Fling ended with a Roaring 50's dance with Vince Vance and the Valiants.

Election year stirred up hidden interests in politics at West Georgia. The policies of Nixon and McGovern and Thompson and Nunn were topics of conversation. Students turned away from the thinking of their parents to more independent ideas. Opportunities for learning the world of politics came with meeting face-to-face many of those involved, asking them questions when curiosity motivated the desire for the answers.

In college we find ourselves old enough to start caring and worrying about tomorrow's situation. We feel the direct effects of what is going on now in the political realm. We become fired up about things we believe in and are ready to take a stand to support those beliefs. Voting, demonstration marches, arm bands, and POW wrist bracelets are our means of expressing our support.

We have realized that survival depends on tomorrow, and that tomorrow depends on what is done today.

Fine arts are a portion of the Humanities which evokes a diversity of creative talent and aesthetic interpretation. The world is conceived somehow differently by each individual artist. At West Georgia College the variety of styles range from the clear and distinct to that which blows your mind and makes you turn your head upside down. By using bright colors on tones of the basic black and white the artists take ideas and objects and create with them. The exhibits and displays provide educational as well as entertainment value to students and faculty.

THREE PENNY OPERA

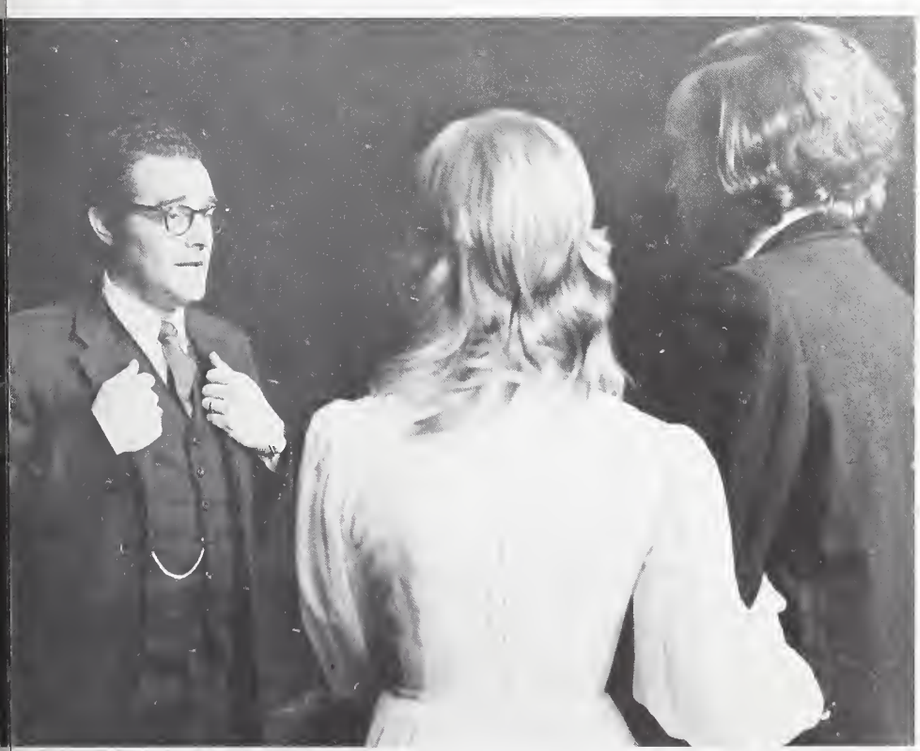
With Spring quarter came the musical The Three Penny Opera. The light comedy and songs were very much in keeping with the high spirits that characterize Spring at W.G.C.

THE CAVE DWELLERS

The King, a Queen, a bear, and a host of other misfits, has-beens, and yet-to-bes all combined to make the Summer quarter production, Cave Dwellers. The story of a group of actors living in an indifferent world, Cave Dwellers was at times humorous and at times moving.

THE SURVIVAL OF ST. JOAN

A rock band played and a witch was 'burned' with crepe paper as the Drama Dept. put on The Survival of Joan. The music was good and the audiences seemed to enjoy this Fall quarter production.



OUR TOWN

The W.G.C. Drama Department made a return to simplicity with the Winter quarter production of Thornton Wilder's Our Town. Performed on a bare set where good character acting was more important than special effects, Our Town captured the emotions of the audience and involved them in the everyday lives of the population of Grover's Corners, New Hampshire.

The Union Program Council Entertainment Committee is responsible for scheduling campus concerts. This committee consists of a cross-section of the student body to allow for varied preferences. To aid the committee, names of entertainers and entertainment groups are submitted to them by student poll and committee submittal. During the year several trips are made to entertainment conferences throughout the country in search of groups traveling the southeast college circuit.

If a group or single performer nominated meets the requirements of availability, price, staging, past performance records, and type of act, the agent is contacted, and the contract drawn up.

Miss West Georgia pageant

After three days of being judged in talent, swimsuit, and evening-gown competition, the twenty-four contestants of the sixth annual Miss West Georgia Pageant were able to relax. Miss West Georgia of 1972, Terrie Cagle relinquished her title to Gail Bullock, who was crowned to serve the reign of 1973. Gail, a junior from Thomasville and sponsored by Phi Mu Sorority, will receive a $150 scholarship in addition to $60 in gift certificates. She will represent West Georgia at the Miss Georgia Pageant later this year.

Her court includes first runner-up, Carolyn Reeves, and second runner-up, Barbara Young. The other two finalists were Judy Jones and Barbara Cagle.

The theme for this year's pageant was "Where is Love?" Miss Alexis Parker served as Mistress of Ceremonies. Music arranged by Larry White, with the Miss West Georgia Pageant Singers, Chuck Roberts, Bonnie Bunna and Jo Bell provided additional entertainment.

The 1972-73 Braves basketball team compiled a 23-4 overall season record and took second place in the GIAC. Sparked by Jerry Faulkner, Tom "Terrific" Turner, Allen Gustavel, Pat Magley, and All-American candidate Clarence "Foots" Walker, the Braves earned an at-large berth in the District 25 playoffs of which they are returning champions.

The season saw many surprises. With the highlights of early regular play being the 89-88 upset over Western Kentucky before 10,000 in Bowling Green and the taking of the Hubbard Classic crown from Jacksonville State, Kaiser's cagers were well on their way to showing that they could win again. Hopes were high as the Braves jumped out to a perfect 10-0 record, until Valdosta overcame a twenty point deficit in the eleventh game to edge the Braves 96-93. As the GIAC Conference narrowed down to a three-team race, North Georgia proved to be the ballast that tipped the scales as West Georgia and LaGrange sought the title. After the Braves lost to LaGrange before a home crowd of 4,000, West Georgia's hopes for a conference tie lay with a North Georgia win over LaGrange. Probably the most exciting game of the season was when the Braves topped the North Georgia Saints 104-96 in triple overtime, only to have the evasive title snatched by LaGrange's win over the Saints.

Sporting the best record in the state and leading the nation in scoring with a 96.0 average, the Braves nailed down a berth in the NAIA District 25 playoffs. As one of the top defensive teams, they gave up an average of 78.6. On an average their winning margin is 17.4 among the top five in the nation. Setting a new school record, they scored 100 points or more ten times in season play.

In individual achievements Turner and Walker set new season marks. Tom "Terrific" Turner had the best scoring average (23.7), most points scored in a game (47), and the most field goals in a season (285), topping Charlie Hamilton's 231. The Braves' sensational guard, Clarence "Foots" Walker, also set records in only his first season at West Georgia. A ballhandling wonder, he established the most assists in a season (397), a new national record, and most steals in a season (141), besting the old record of Greg Allen. Turner became an all-conference and district all-star spots.

Turner and Walker's play reflects the image of the remaining squad in their desire to win. Once again the Brave's squad with the superb leadership of Roger Kaiser and Jerry Reynolds captured the enthusiasm of West Georgia fans by packing the gym for all home games. Team and public tasted victory and came back for more.

Braves winning season

The batting of Don Dixon, Phil Williams, and Bob Canada and the fast balls of Butch Hinshaw and John Travis provided the offensive power of the Braves baseball team. Coach Archie White led the Braves through a winning season ending with a record of 20-9. The Braves battled against such big name teams as Auburn, Southern Tech, Georgia State, and the University of Kentucky in addition to rivals in the GIAC.

Highlights of the season included a three-run homer by Bob Canada which helped the Braves defeat Georgia State 8 to 1 and the continuous effort of Phil Williams who maintained a .536 batting average. John Travis with a variety of pitches managed to strike out 11 batters in 8 innings in the Oglethorpe game.

The Braves were forced to withdraw from competition for the state title because of the ineligibility of one of the players. The team had already played and won several games but these wins were forfeited. Had this not happened, WGC could have found itself in a three-way tie for first place with Shorter and Valdosta.

Three of the Braves were chosen to the GIAC All-Conference Team. John Travis was honored as best pitcher, Phil Williams as catcher, and Butch Hinshaw as shortstop. Travis, who was later signed to a professional baseball contract by Atlanta, broke the conference record for strike outs in a season with a total of 104. His last 3 starts were shut outs and he pitched through his final 52 innings without a run credited.

cross country season

The 1972 Cross Country season saw the Braves win many team and individual awards and accolades. Coach Grant Knox had some exceptional runners in seniors Jerry Arnold and Ernie Raney. Arnold, the team's captain, was named to the All-Conference, All-District, and All-State teams, while Raney was named to the All-Conference team.

The Braves as a team finished fourth in the Georgia Collegiate Championship, second in the District 25 Championships and lost their six year dynasty to Berry College in the GIAC Championships. Freshmen Jim Gaines, Mickey Pender, and Hank Burt helped Coach Knox considerably when the schedule got tough. Knox explained that with three freshmen running in starting positions, the future outlook is very good and hopes of building another championship team are high.

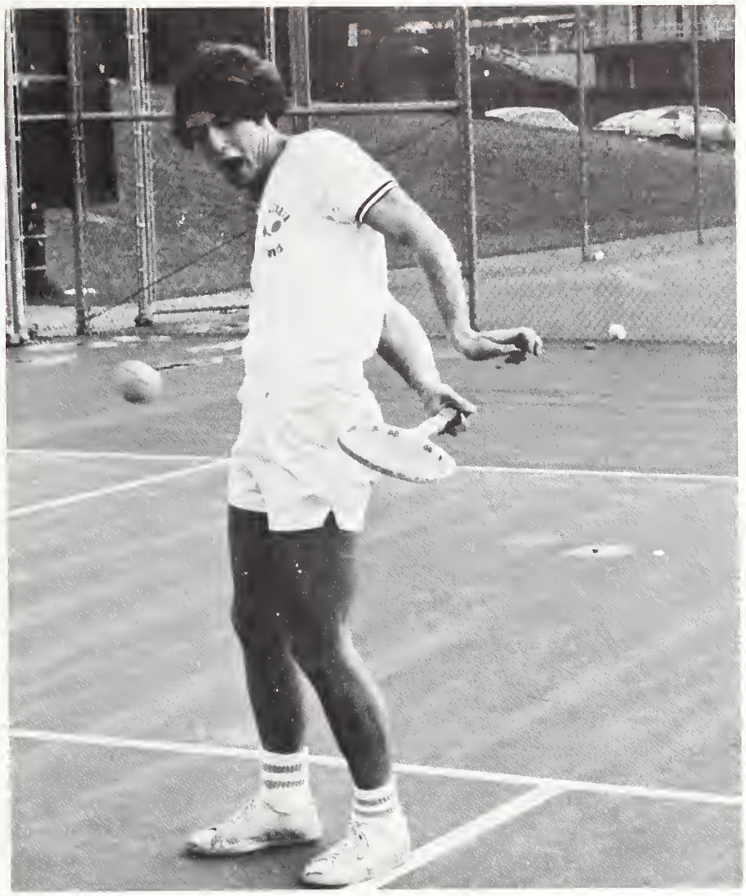
for GIAC crown



West Georgia won the GIAC tennis title for the second year in a row. The Braves, who were in a deadlock with Shorter College, took two of three remaining matches to capture the championship in the GIAC playoffs.

Although LaGrange College was somewhat involved in conference competition, the match boiled down to a confrontation between performers of the West Georgia Braves and Shorter College. In almost all of the finals in single and double competition it was West Georgia and Shorter College who met head on to decide the conference champs.

West Georgia finished the regular season with a 10-7 mark. Jeff Campbell received the most valuable players award for the men's tennis team.

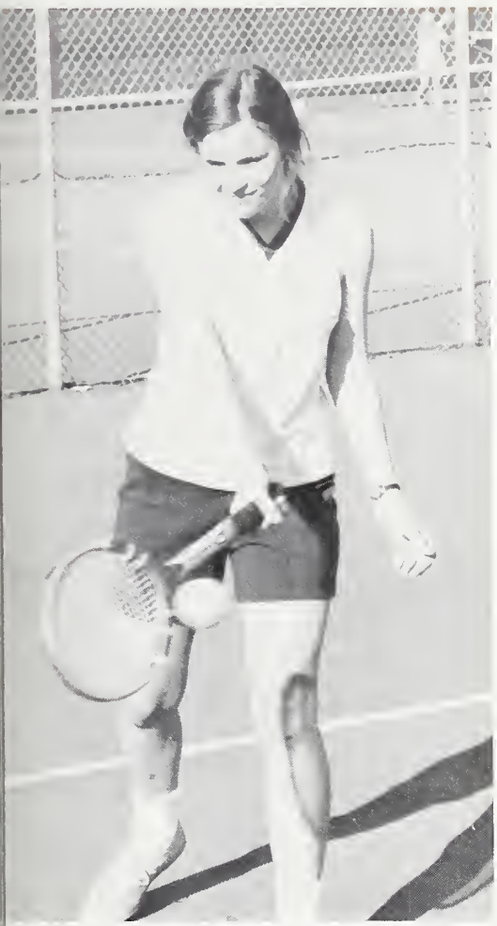
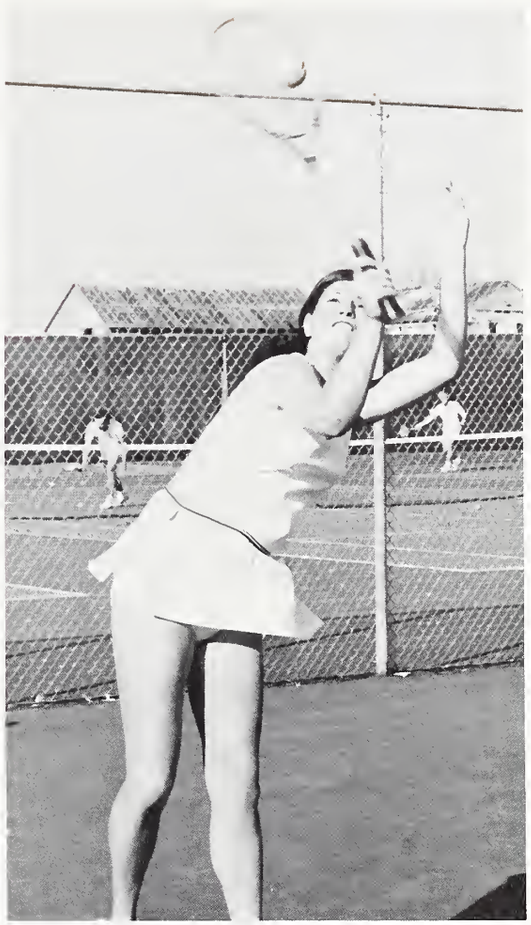
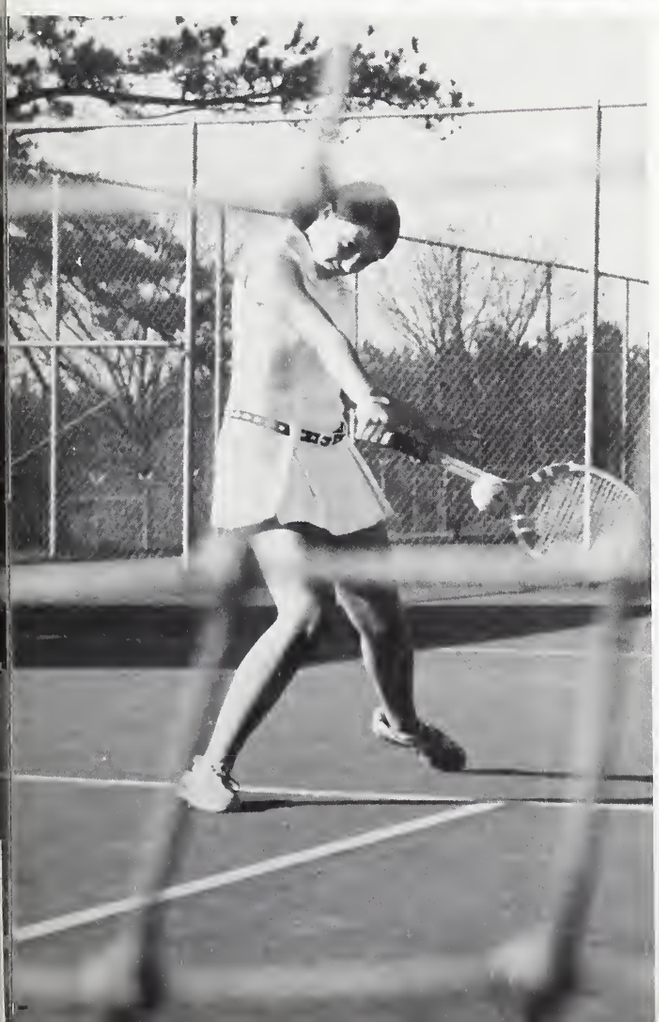
'73 comeback







The West Georgia Women's Tennis Team suffered through a dismal season, winning only two matches. The schedule included matches against Emory University, Georgia College at Milledgeville, the University of Georgia, Dekalb College, and participation in a tournament at Auburn University, as well as competition in the State Tournament.

Four-year letterman Molly Shepard was the team's Most Valuable Player this year, and served as the number one player each of her four years of competition. She finished either in the quarter-finals or semi-finals in the State Tournament all four years. Of the original eleven members of the squad, six are able to return and could form the nucleus of a much improved team for '73.

WGC's women's volleyball team started and finished a magnificent season this year without losing their adopted name. The "Heroes" ravished the Southeast corner of the United States and took top honors as an undefeated, untied state and regional championship team. "I love to win," a dominating theme stated and reiterated by players and Coach Dot McNabb throughout the season, proved to be a mild threat and an accurate prediction. The Heroes' prowess put down all competitors at every tournament and progressed through winning the state and regional championships to represent this part of the world in national contention. The achievement of these few women has brought much prestige to West Georgia College's athletic program.

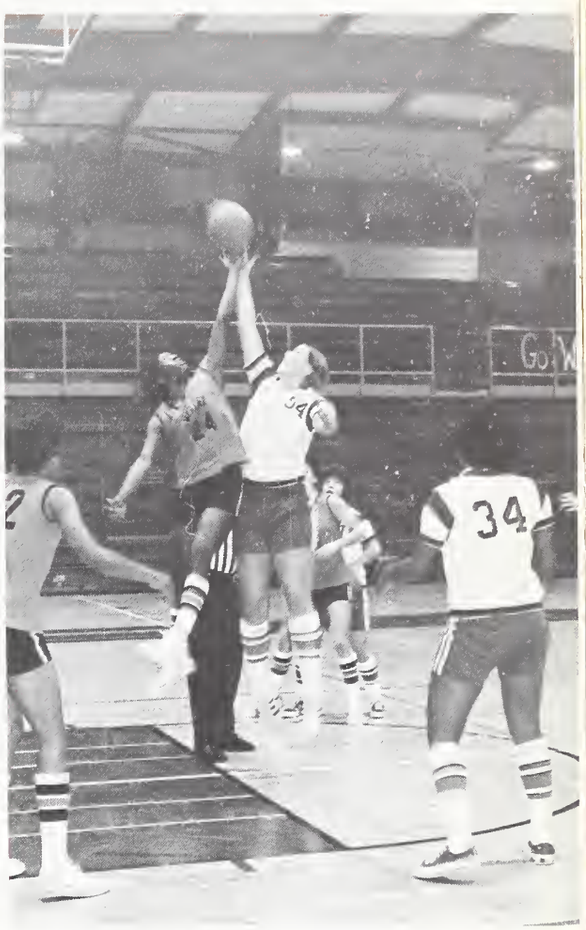
trong record



The West Georgia Women's Basketball Team got underway with seven returning lettermen from last year. This year, while playing in a new conference, the Bravettes compiled a regular season record of nine wins and four losses, thus earning a berth in the State Tournament held at Dekalb College. The women also hosted the regional tournament when the top teams from four states competed for a berth in the nationals held at Queen's College in New York.

West Georgia posed a tremendous offensive threat during the season and had four of the five starters averaging in double figures. The team reached its peak on a week-end tournament at Flagler College in St. Augustine, Florida. Here they posted a 4-0 record beating nationally ranked Miami Dade-South, Flagler College, Florida State University, and Miami Dade North.

West Georgia had three outstanding players during the season. Seniors Carolynn Cameron and Sunny Myrell and sophomore Debby McGury led the team in scoring, rebounds, and assists. Senior Barbara Wilhite and junior Clever Nalls contributed quickness and defense to the team.

The intramural football season this year fielded probably the finest competition ever at West Georgia. There were quite a few upsets, but as the season drew to a close and playoff time neared, Kappa Sigma, BSA, Farm, and Pi Kappa Alpha were the teams left to vie for the top spot. In the independent league, Farm had little trouble with BSA in capturing their second league crown. Meanwhile, Kappa Sigma sporting a 10-0 mark met the Pikes for the fraternity league crown. The Kappa Sigma team, with an especially strong defense, edged the Pikes 10 to 7 and headed for a clash with the Farm. The championship was much more exciting than most had anticipated. Many people had discounted the Farm before the first snap of the ball. Though Kappa Sigma jumped off to a halftime lead of seven to three, the Farm dug in and came back in the second half to nail down the second overall championship in a row by a score of ten to nine.

intramural win

Fraternity league champion Pi Kappa Alpha defeated independent league champion Pineapple to win the 1973 men's intramural basketball crown.

Farm harvests '72 season with comeback win over Sigma Nu

Without fail, spring quarter brings intramural softball to West Georgia College. In the 1972 season it was soon apparent that the fraternity league would be decided between Pi Kappa Alpha, Sigma Nu, and Kappa Sigma. The two independent leagues were dominated by Farm, Batracks, BSA, and Pot Luck.

The playoffs at the end of the season saw Sigma Nu upset the Pikes and surprise Kappa Sig to walk off with the fraternity championship. The Farm claimed the independent championship with an easy victory over the Batracks.

The championship was a best-two-out-of-three series. The Farm hardily won the first game but Sigma Nu came back to win the second game. The early part of the deciding game was all Sigma Nu as they built up a big lead. However, the Farm was not to be denied as they came back in the last 3 innings to win their first overall softball championship.

New addition to the all-sport intramural program

A new facet has been added to intramural sports . . . soccer! Though on a trial basis, six teams are in competition this year. The sport is rough, challenging and continuous with Alpha Tau Omega and the Kickers tied for first place and Sigma Nu, Pi Kappa Alpha, Chi Phi, and S-19 rounding out the field.

The decision to insert soccer in intramural competition will be based on the year's trial program. Since soccer is growing in popularity, the event will put more diversity in the intramural program for the All-Sports Trophy.

WGC golf team speaks softly but carries a winning stick

Though golf may be considered a passive sport, it became skillfully exciting at West Georgia College when the intercollegiate golf squad initiated its '72 season with three consecutive wins over such teams as LaGrange, Shorter, and Mercer. Nearing the season's end the team had reason to boast an impressive 9-1 mark, yielding only to Georgia State. The Brave linksters put muscle, mind, and coordination together to attain ultimate long distance strokes and precision under "par" putts on the green. The team was led by veteran lettermen John Pilcher, Rick Miller, and captain — Hugh King. The strength of the group lay in its fifth and sixth men who averaged 77-78 a match for the team.. Special praise should be given freshman Tony Farmer, who gave a consistently good performance and won medalist honors in GIAC conference competition. Though West Georgia lost to defending champs Valdosta State in district competition, WGC placed fourth behind three-time champion Columbus College, West Florida, and Valdosta State out of eleven teams competing.

Bravettes mesh precision and rhythm for spirited showtime

The Bravettes is a dance-drill team consisting of twenty girls who perform at all West Georgia Braves home games. They are under the leadership of captain Debbie Nix and co-captain Candy Toole, who originate routines performed to popular music, making the listening as pleasant as the viewing. During Fall tryouts a corps of girls is selected on the basis of their ability, performance, appearance, and agility. The drill team is a purposeful activity which helps create devotion and a sense of belonging to WGC as well as an interesting and entertaining half-time show for the student body.

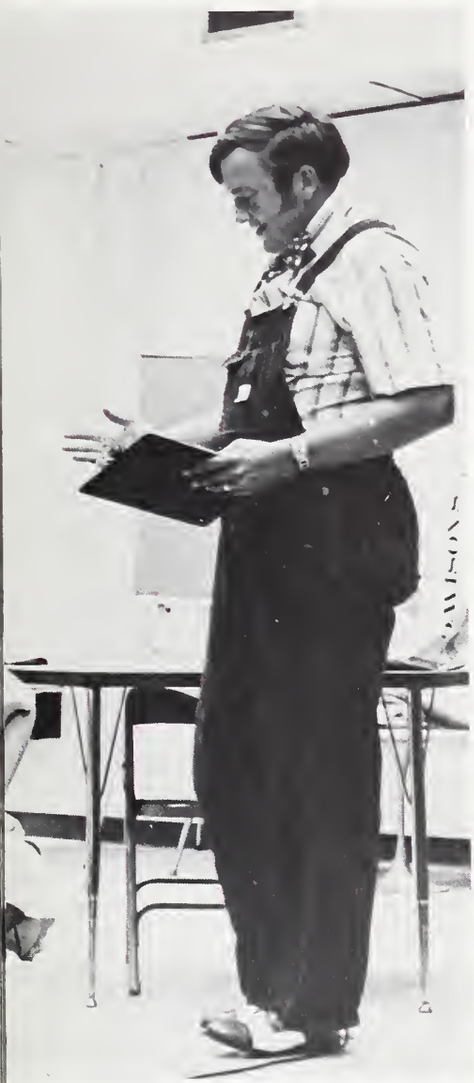
better business



Effective July first, the burgeoning Division of Business and Economic Studies evolves as West Georgia College's first School of Business, whose mission will be to educate for business and promote the study and practice of economic efficiency in organizations and institutions within the contemporary environment. Headed by Dr. J. Mark Miller, the present division already hosts three undergraduate and two master's degree programs. It is Dr. Miller's belief that with initiative those graduates holding degrees in Business Administration, Business Education, and Economics have no trouble getting jobs. Recent graduates have attained managerial positions with government and prominent national firms. Though initiative is a prerequisite to an advancing business career, sexual classification is not and Dr. Miller enjoys pointing out that in general women are being sought in American industry.

Producing the efficient business man or woman is the aim of West Georgia's well-qualified business staff. Not only do they familiarize students with the efficiency of electronic calculators and IBM computers in statistical analysis, but they also attempt to educate the local and national community at large. Articles accredited to West Georgia College's business division can be found in various psychology and marketing journals, specifically in the Journal of Political Economy, European Economic Journal, and Journal of Economic Education. With the objective to "increase economic literacy among the Georgia citizenry," this division has formally established a center for Economic Education — an information library with supporting funds provided by the Georgia Council for Economic Education. In every effort to establish a working rapport between the business and college community, many projects are on the drawing board — one concerning management training for counselors in the area of social work, future bimonthly publication of a West Georgia Business Brief, and two new courses entitled Consumer Economics and Personal Financial Management to benefit the average citizen.

Student-oriented projects engage the faculty also. At present a team of students participates in the Emory University International Computer Game. In addition student dramatization of business processes and problems are planned through television cassette tape productions for class discussion. Most promising is the committee studying the possibility of developing a cooperative program with business and governmental agencies in the nature of a business practicum comparable to a student teaching program.

Education Division — transforming students into professional e educators.

The Education Division is composed of the departments of Teacher Education, Specialized School Personnel, Physical Education, and Psychology. These departments work together to prepare school personnel for staff teaching and specialized areas in public schools, and to provide basic preparation in psychology and recreation.

Actively applying its teachings, and division sponsors such projects as the Career Development Project at the Lookout Mountain Career Development Center, a Career Opportunities Program, Head Start, Appalachian Child-Development Center, Teaching Centers in the Carroll County and City Schools, and a Career Ladder Competency-based Teaching Program.

To better develop its goals, the division is initiating several new courses and degree areas. The Psychology Department is beginning a Human Services Option, which is a shift toward a more vocational application of psychology. In the Teacher Education Department, there are three degree programs — a B.S. in Special Education in Teaching the Trainable Mentally Retarded, an M.S. in Special Learning Disabilities, and an M.S. in Behavioral Disorders. Additionally, there is a new B.S. degree in the Physical Education Department offering Physical Education for men. Also available is an M.E.D. in Science, and an A.S. in Education.

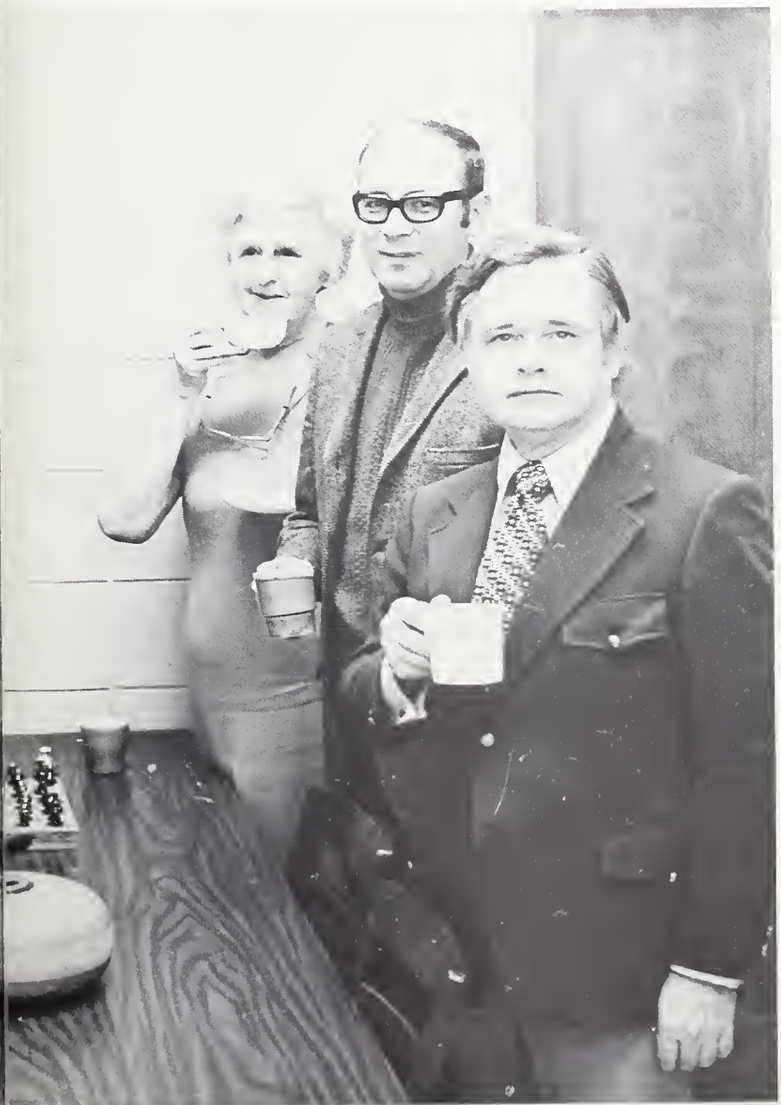
Among the qualified professors of this division several are adept at organization. Dr. James Thomas is involved in organizing the Georgia Psychological Association, as is Andrew Short in the Southeastern Regional Humanistic Psychological Association. Dr. Thomas Sills is President of the Association for the Supervision of Curriculum Development, and Dr. Peggy Steelman is Commissioner for the Commission on Elementary Schools for the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. She is also Chairman of the Accreditation Committee.

The divisional professors follow other interests, also, as Dr. Myron Arons has recently completed travels to Russia and Japan, and Mr. James Baum, to Mexico. In addition, scheduled to be published in 1973 are books by Dr. James Thomas, Dr. Myron Arons, and Dr. Floyd Blanton.

Andrew Short, psychology professor is also involved in teaching Judo two nights a week.

Seven members of the English Department that have traveled and studied in England during the past two summers. They are, Dr. Benjamin Griffith, Dr. Gerald Garmon, Dr. Fran Chalfant, Professor Mary Anne DeVillier, Dr. Virginia Meehan, Professor Willie Maude Thompson, and Professor James Murphy.

Humanities Division of the Fine Arts.



Humanities Division — an expression of the Fine Arts.

The picture made by traveling through the Humanities building shows students cutting metal for sculpture, harmonizing from Bach, rehearsing lines for the current play production, and putting in extra time at the language lab.

The Humanities Division represents the study of language, literature, philosophy, and the arts. Its purpose is to expand knowledge, encourage research, and satisfy the need of those students pursuing a career in these areas.

The new scene this year includes the new method of teaching foreign language in block form by which the student can condense four quarters' worth of studies into one. Emphasis in foreign language studies is placed on the culture of the country as well as its language.

In art, photography is being offered for the first time. The English department has expanded the journalism offerings enough to obtain a strong minor. Remedial work in English composition is available to those who need it. Most of the professors in the English, Art, and Music departments are busy in scholarly work or creative activities on their own. The debate team has made a name for itself and the school with its talent and success. The Drama department presents a major play each quarter. Art exhibits and music concerts accent the work that takes place in class.

to grow

New Biology and Chemistry building.

The Math and Science Division is the host of many improvements and new programs. The most obvious improvement of the biology and chemistry departments is the near completion of their new building. The departments have moved into the building and have begun to experience many of the advantages of their new location. The chemistry department especially has had the opportunity to spread out with their materials; for the first time almost every student has his own supplies, and thus more specialized materials. In the biology department varied opportunities are being created. A new spectrum has opened for the botanist with the opening of four greenhouses with separate temperatures and control. Environmental growth chambers will also find their place. There is tentative discussion of fencing in some surrounding land by the biology department to create the beginnings of a West Georgia Zoo.

The math department is working extensively with its computer program. West Georgia houses the fourth largest computer in Georgia. Last summer the Computer Science Program helped five people get summer jobs at AT&T the C&S Bank, and here on campus. This summer the department hopes to help more students find jobs. The computer on campus is not used only for academic purposes. In fact less than fifty per cent of the computer's services are used for education. The rest of the time the computer is used in servicing the college.

The geology department is also expanding. The department now inhabits the entire Callaway Building. This has enabled the geologists to put fossils and seashells on display that before have been stored because of lack of space. This added room has made it possible to add many new specimens to the rock and mineral display. These are the beginning efforts in starting the West Georgia Museum. The plans are still incomplete; however, it is a start.

Astronomy is in the expanding stages. It is hoped that an observatory can be built on campus on top of one of the buildings in the future.

A new project in this division is Science Education, a graduate degree program for science teachers. A Science Research Center, coordinated by Dr. Lucy Klee and Dr. Jim Klee, offers teachers access to new equipment.

Man and his machine

Five departments comprise the Social Science Division at West Georgia College. All involve the study of man and his life space — past, present, and future. To broaden their knowledge the social science faculty seeks first-hand travel experiences to such countries as Brazil, Spain, Mexico, and Israel. Perhaps those professors of another national origin provide even more accurate cross-cultural ties.

As one of the social sciences, history fills the void left by time. For the history major at West Georgia College the past is alive because it enhances his understanding of the present and offers realistic approaches to the future. At present history is a changing discipline with professional opportunity available in areas of archival work, records management, research, and management of historical sites and museums. A history degree is also considered good professional preparation by law schools, State Department, Foreign Service, and agencies such as the C.I.A. and F.B.I.

Geography at West Georgia College is an integrative discipline attempting to understand the location, distribution, and interrelationships of man-made and natural phenomena over the earth's surface. Since the activity of a modern geographer is special analysis, the Social Science Division has recently acquired a new cartography-planning studio as well as weather machines and climatology-meteorological lab. A bachelor of science in geography prepares graduates for careers with government agencies, city and regional planning commissions, and private firms seeking profitable locations.

Sociology is the scientific study of societies — how they are organized, and how they change. Within the department of sociology at West Georgia College, one of several major emphases can be selected — general sociology, criminology — penology and delinquency, social work and welfare, and research. It is now possible to receive a masters in sociology.

Anthropology is the study of man as a physical and cultural animal. The department of anthropology regularly undertakes excavations and archaeological digs. While professional anthropologists find employment in a number of educational, medical, and governmental organizations, the undergraduate degree in anthropology is not a professional one. However it is an excellent liberal arts degree and is designed to provide students with the understanding and skills prerequisite to professional training in anthropology.

The Political Science department maintains a program exploring the various political systems of the world. A major in political science enhances the study of American government, comparative governments, international relations, public administration, political theory, and methodology. Students majoring in political science at West Georgia College have pursued careers in law, government, teaching, business, and research. With the increasing scope of government involvement in society, the indicators point to a continuing need for individuals trained in political science.

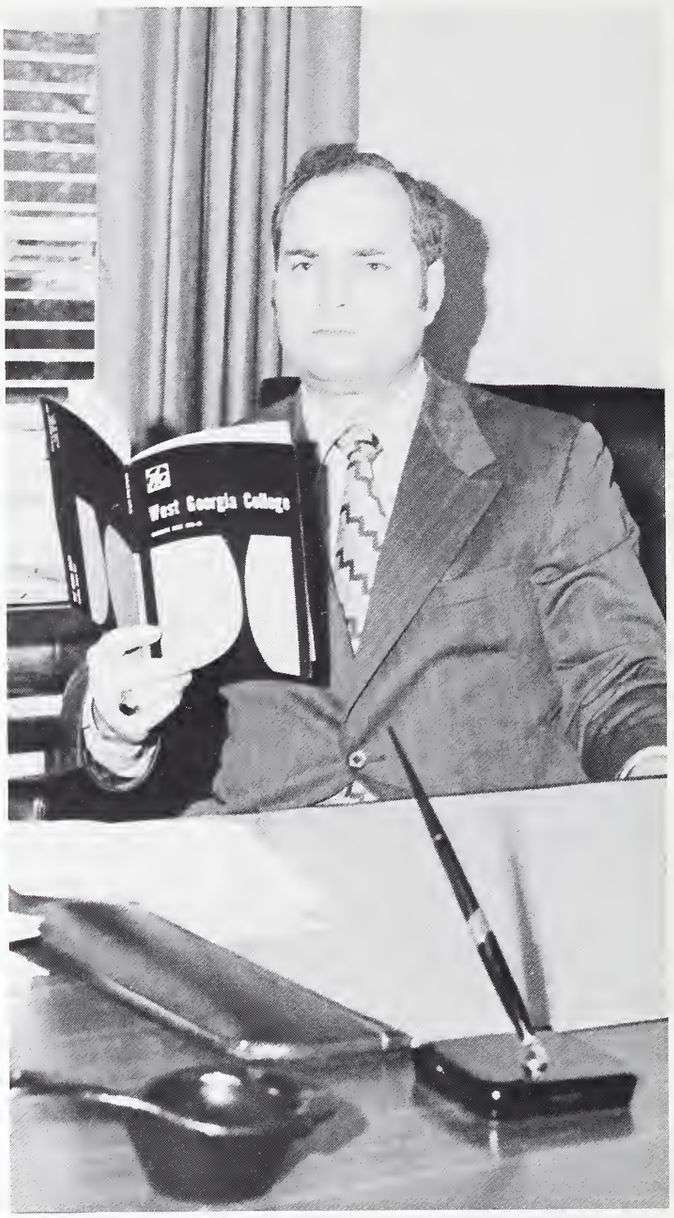
Graduate studies — expanding and enriching programs for educational opportunity

The Graduate Division of West Georgia College was established in 1967. All graduate work is administered by this division and governed by the Graduate Council, the policy-making body chosen from the graduate faculty and administration. Dr. L. Doyle Mathis chairs this division, supervising personnel, coordinating admission procedures, screening for degree candidacy, approving theses, and administering graduate assistantships, as well as performing many other duties. The graduate structure offers five degree programs — Master of Arts, Master of Science, Master of Business Administration, Master of Education, and Specialist in Education, with majors expanding every year especially in the area of education.

As an administrative subdivision of the college, graduate studies act independently of the college undergraduate facility, catering not only to West Georgia graduates but qualified students from the continental United States, Europe, Asia, and Canada. The Institute for International Education assists the communication among foreign students and the college.

Financial aid is available; however, a majority of graduate students pick up skills and added information for career enrichment while maintaining jobs. This is particularly true for teachers seeking fifth and sixth year certification. In recognition of this fact West Georgia College has become affiliated with Middle Georgia, Northwest Georgia, and Atlanta Area Teacher Education Services to provide off-campus course work and in-service training primarily for public school teachers.

The graduate degree program at West Georgia College attempts to provide well-qualified students with the opportunity to obtain a graduate degree, allow professional teachers the opportunity to enhance their competencies and knowledge, equip superior graduates for research study at the doctoral level, and provide non-degree graduates the chance to enhance their knowledge and skills. The pursuit and completion of graduate study assumes more than the passing of prescribed courses and the meeting of other minimum requirements. It is the guiding philosophy of the graduate division that any student who receives a graduate degree possess a broad knowledge of the literature of his field of study, be capable of sustained study, exhibit the power of independent thinking, and acquire a reasonable ability for research.



Dr. Doyle Mathis, division chairman.

Mr. Collus O. Johnson

Mr. Collus O. Johnson began teaching at West Georgia College in September, 1951, as the Director of Community Education. The University of Tennessee provided him with his B.S. and M.S. degrees, and in 1959 he was granted a fellowship to study at Peabody College, there earning his Ed.S. degree. A year later he became the Director of Continuing Education.

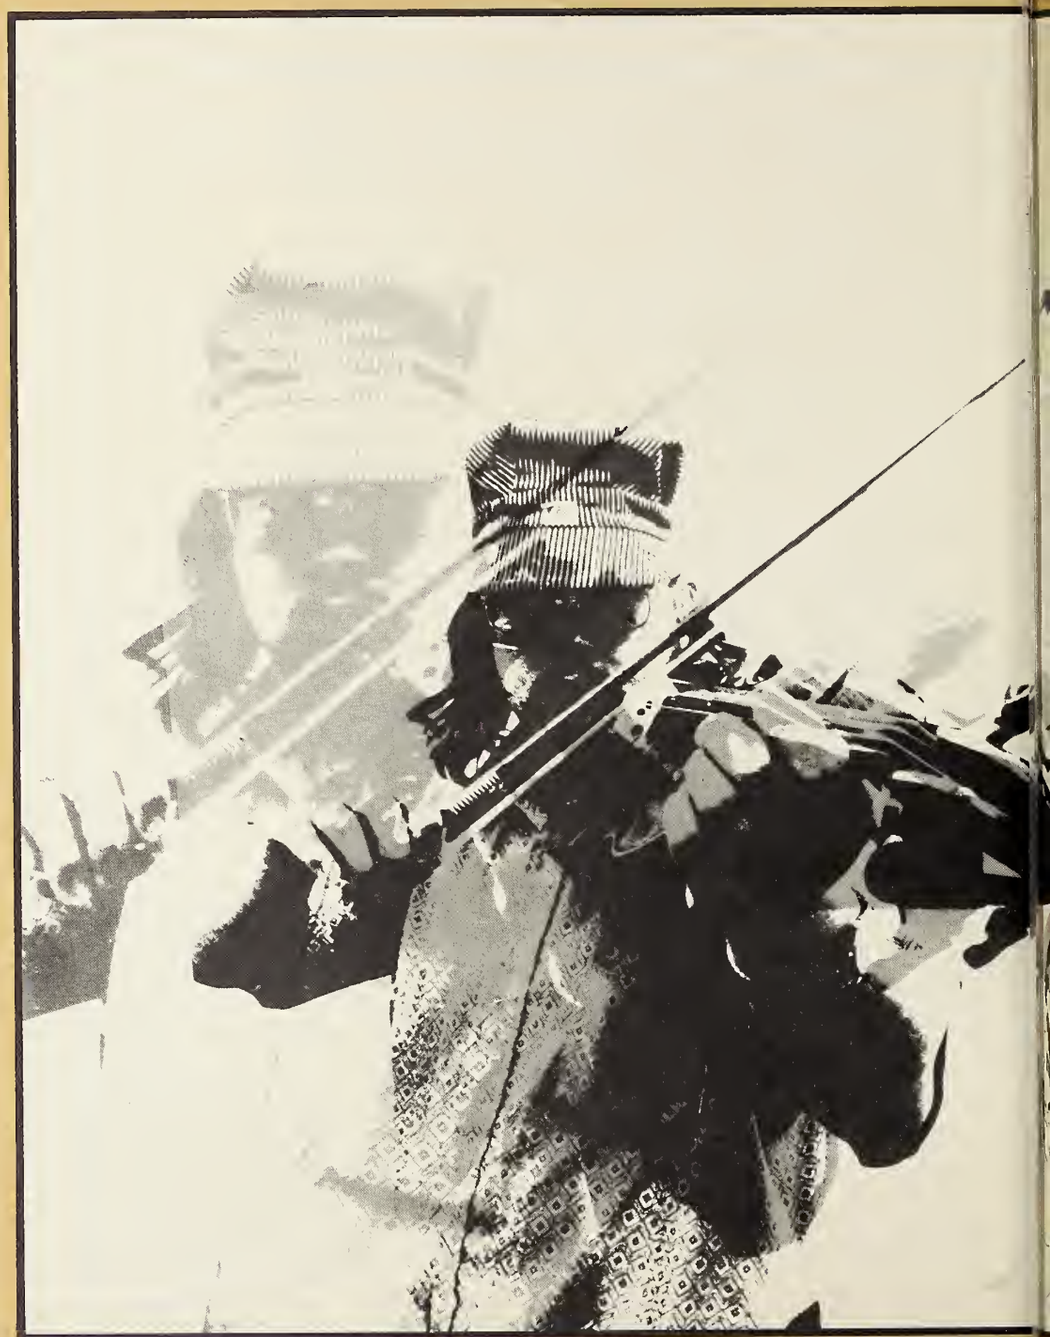
Embracing the belief that education should be a life long process for all people, Mr. Johnson is involved with arranging non-credit courses to be taught to people in the coummunity who show an interest or would like to learn more about a subject. Mr. Johnson himself is an adherent to this life-long educational policy, having taken numerous studycades to every state in the union and to Canada, and Mexico.

Mr. Johnson has developed many values over the years. He remains active in many national educational associations, the administrative board of his church, and the local Kiwanis Club. The Georgia Adult Educators have recently chosen him as the Outstanding Adult Educator in Georgia. Informally, Mr. Johnson enjoys gardening and as his wife puts it, his favorite subject is his three children. Without a doubt, Mr. Johnson's talents have not only left an impression on West Georgia College, but have also influenced the community and state as well.

Mr. Floyd H. Wirsing

Mr. Floyd H. Wirsing came to West Georgia College in September of 1952 as assistant professor of chemistry. He received his B.S. from the University of Maryland and his M.S. from the University of Virginia and completed additional studies at George Washington University. Mr. Wirsing is an active member of the Kiwanis Club, having served as president of that organization, and is also a member of the Carroll County Sportsman Club. One of his contributions on campus was serving as the advisor to Circle K for many years. Mr. Wirsing is active in his church and conducts an adult bible class. He has traveled extensively through Europe, the Holy Lands, and the Western United States. He has given numerous lectures in the community about his travels and also gives magic shows and chemistry programs for groups like the Boy Scouts.

Mr. Wirsing, now retiring as associate professor of chemistry, has affected many lives by simply showing that he cares.



Organizations

Beta Alpha Beta . . . assemblage for common interests

Beta Alpha Beta is a newly organized social club for black students on the West Georgia campus. Their seriousness of purpose is formally established by a constitution and speaker invitation for spring quarter activity. Expression of unity began in summer of 1972 when the individual members attended Atlanta concerts and outdoor gatherings as a socially recognized group.

Ebony players culturally alert

The Ebony Players, a volunteer student group, is the newest cultural explosion to hit the West Georgia campus. The troupe of 60 proud performers is advised by Dr. Oliver Link, head of the drama and speech department.

Poetry readings are by such authors as Langston Hughes and Nikki Giovanni. The singing is a mixture of the old and new, ranging from Black spirituals to modern pop. Dances are modern and interpretive.

Participants at West Georgia include: poetry readers — Elaine Smith, Linday Sewell, Deborah Burdett, Janice Sullivan, Shirley McClure, Virginia Render, Richard Harris, Richard Lundy, Glenda Scott, Tyrone Copeland, Stanley Horton, and Angela Lenson.

The Ebony Dancers are: Marquetta Bell, Virginia Render, Angela Lenson, Richard and Ronald Harris, Patricia Taylor, Sandra Grant, Willie Eubanks, Kenneth Hardy, Karen Chatman, Artie Askew, Connie Burdette, and Malcolm McCary.

The singers include: Janice Sullivan, Francess Watters, Sharon Miller, and Juliett Montgomery. Music is provided by Yvonne de and Sanford Holliway.

WGC concert band — "note-worthy"

The WGC concert band is open to all students interested in gaining musical knowledge and maintaining school spirit. The concert band is a classic example of adaption to environment, whether it be performing for concerts, playing at graduation, or instilling spirit at basketball games. Performances range from contemporary to popular music. The WGC concert band is under the fine direction of Mr. James R. Collins.

West Georgia College choir "tours" from Bach to contemporary

The West Georgia College Choir is the basic unit of the choral organization on campus. Its performances include major choral-orchestral works featuring guest soloists and players from the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra. The fifty-member choir tours throughout the United States presenting programs to high schools, other colleges, churches, civic groups, the Armed Forces, and state conventions. These programs include choral music of all styles — sacred and secular, traditional and avant-garde. Developing its talent, the group has excelled under the direction of Mr. Max Peterson.

Student Music Educators National Conference — keeping up with pace of music

The purpose of the Student Music Educators National Conference is to keep informed of the progress made in music education on the national level and to acquaint students with the privileges and responsibilities of music and the music education profession. As well as sponsoring musical activities, the organization provides an opportunity to become acquainted with leaders in the music profession.

Chamber Singers evoke "Old English" Christmas

The Chamber Singers is a choral group of fifteen to twenty members, selected by audition. The singers meet four times a week rehearsing music written for small ensembles and present at least one concert per quarter on campus in addition to performances throughout the state. The Wassail and Carols Dinner at Christmas is the most popular concert given by this group.

The Student Association of Educators enables WGC students to become aware of the work of state and national professional organizations and to participate in local, state, and national projects of interest to educators. Prospective teachers find fellowship in such activities as Trick or Treating for UNICEF, Christmas projects, State and FTA conventions. The WGC chapter enjoys affiliation with both the Georgia Association of Educators and the National Education Association.

Radiating from the nucleus of Christianity

Members of the Wesley Foundation, sponsored by the Methodist church, are in the process of remodeling their house. All the rooms are being repainted. It is hoped that the house can be carpeted and the windows painted in a stained glass effect. The members are also involved in other activities such as ping-pong games, surprise birthday parties for the members, celebrations, and retreats. It is the goal of the Wesley Foundation to help develop and broaden the student's religious, educational and social interests by hosting activities of fellowship and Christian concern. The club meets every Tuesday night with Reverend Mike Cordle as advisor.

WGC — fourth Georgia college to break ground for BSU center

The Baptist Student Union provides Christian fellowhip and growth for all students and strives to lead students and faculty to commitment to Jesus Christ. All the activities are open to those who desire to attend. Group meetings, Bible Study, prayer groups, and tutoring sessions head the list of meetings. Visiting the old folks home and children's homes and sending out singing groups and revival teams allow the members to witness personally to others about Christ.

Canterbury Club contributes to the growth of religious understanding

The Canterbury Club, sponsored by the Episcopal Church, seeks to establish understanding and a working relationship between the church, associated communities and West Georgia College. The group's activities include folk masses and planning a coffee house for the seventh through twelfth graders of Carrollton and the surrounding community.

The BSA sponsors "Black Awareness Weekend"

In times when the world is at such odds, an alliance of people who wish to become aware of their individual dignity and open communications between the people of different races is a good idea. The Black Students Alliance on the WGC campus maintains that concept as its aim.

The club here has many activities which help not only to make the club's principle obvious, but also to offer recreation in the club. The activities include football, softball, basketball, and a "Black Awareness Weekend." The club has won several intramural trophies because of their activities: second place in basketball, first place in track, and first place in girl's volleyball.

Reject . . . reject it does not compute

The Student Chapter of the Association for Computing Machinery is on the WGC campus for the purpose of stimulating an interest in science and computing machinery and providing a means of communication between persons having such an interest. The club participates in field trips such as their visits to the Gunter Air Force Base and to the Auburn University Computer Center. The club also promotes interest in its work by performing services for campus organizations in the way of data processing or computer science. Members meet twice a month with advisors, Mrs. J. Student Government provides method

In an intellectual setting where old and new ideas run rampant and more often clash than mesh between student, administration, and community, a reasonable, innovative, and acceptable diplomat is necessary if any progress is to be made. The Student Government of West Georgia College provides this service to protect the individual rights of each student and to set forth the general principles that are to govern the student body. On a smaller scale this organization provides such conveniences as the Faculty-Staff-Student Directory, the refrigerator rental program, the legal council program, and the Consumer Relations Board.

What's the news across the campus?

Every Wednesday night the staff of the West Georgian, the official student newspaper of the West Georgia College, works at a hectic pace to make ready for press what may be one of the South's foremost college newspapers. As an informative publication, it attempts to be the main source of news for and about the campus, and also offers editorial comment on a wide variety of local, state, and national events. For the quality of its work, the West Georgian has won major category awards in Georgia Press Association competition.

Students seek "higher" education

The West Georgia College Flying Club flies out of the West Georgia Regional Airport in Carrollton and seeks to promote the skills, education, safety, and sport of flying. Members learn to fly, conduct fly-ins, participate in educational meetings on flight safety, and compete on an inter-collegiate level. Last spring, the club was awarded a first-place trophy for spot landing in national competition.

WWGC — on the air . . .

The Broadcasting Club was formed on campus for the purpose of promoting the future WGC station. Official recognition of the student radio station by the FCC will mark the culmination of more than four years' effort by West Georgia students and faculty. It began in October 1969 with the meeting of a small group who proposed to start working toward organizing an FM radio station on campus. The plans were approved in January, 1971, and the FCC permit was received in the winter of 1972. Steady progress has been made since that time. The radio station is presently staffed by a crew of WGC students. Approximately six such stations now operate within the university system.

Judo Club — effective body language

The WGC Judo Club offers competition and self-defense for those who want it. With support of black belts from Atlanta, West Georgia is the only school in the state to integrate Judo into its regular academic program. The club is committed to Judo as a contact sport, as a philosophy, and as a means of gaining knowledge about the Japanese Culture.

Karate Club exercises mind over matter

The Karate Club of WGC seeks to promote the development of high levels of sportsmanship and fairness in all phases of life and to promote competitive spirit. Karate instruction includes various techniques of the sport — physical and mental. Mental exercise is important for control, speed, and general ability. Therefore, courtesy and meditation are always stressed. Members of the Karate Club may receive P.E. credit for two quarters. The club learns street and tournament fighting as well as "breaking" techniques. The WGC Karate Club attends clinics, gives demonstrations, and participates in local, state, and national tournaments in addition to hard weekly work-outs.

Physics diffuses into a spectrum of knowledge

With the educational process becoming more complicated, it is understandable that at times students will feel confused. Accordingly, the goal of the West Georgia Physics Society is to aid in the advancement and diffusion of the knowledge of physics. Open to all students interested in physics, the organization hopes to accomplish its aim by tutoring other students in physics, going on various field trips, and sponsoring lectures.

Psychology Club moves ahead

The Psychology Club is presently experiencing reorganization in its attempt to include more undergraduate majors and expand its program. The club helps to promote interest in psychological research and provides a medium between the student and the innovations in the field of psychology. In line with the humanistic ideology practiced by the West Georgia Psychology Department, the club also promotes a better understanding of humanistic views and approaches.

Free fall for all

The Sport Parachute Club of WGC provides enjoyment of one of the most exciting sports ever created. Operating under the auspices of the U.S. Parachute Association and the FAA, the club is fully equipped with chutes, drop zone, jumpmaster, instructors, and licensed rigger. Club members participate in competition with other schools of the National Collegiate Parachute League. Efforts are being made to include parachuting as a P.E. elective.

P.E. majors exercise their beliefs

Those majoring in Physical Education believe that being fit is an important part of man's total development. In conjunction with this, the P.E. majors join together and give recognition to the role of exercise and physical activity in daily life. Their studies help them to develop a better understanding and knowledge of the nature of physical fitness. The purpose of the club is to add to these studies by stimulating and promoting professional growth and personal relationships through activities, meetings, and special programs.

Varsity athletes "sport" their well-earned letters

The men in the Letterman's Club have been awarded a letter for exceptional performance in varsity athletics. The purpose of the organization is to encourage good sportsmanship and school spirit among the athletes and student body and to promote unity, integrity, and achievement among the athletes themselves. Activities help to raise money for the athletic department.

Theatre Arts Society explores varied aspects of drama

In order to further the knowledge of the individual in drama, the Theatre Arts Society strives to stimulate interest and promote skill in acting, directing, and stage management. The organization works to give each member an overall concept of theatrical ideas and practices.

"Let us entertain you . . ."

The Union Program Council members believe that the social as well as the educational side of college is important in helping to create a well-rounded individual. The UPC arranges for entertainment on campus which includes concerts, lectures, and movies. Also every spring, the UPC plans its annual "Spring Fling." Membership for UPC is voluntary.

Geology Club digs deeper into earth sciences

The Geology Club seeks to stimulate interest in and to acquire knowledge of the earth sciences. Field trips and studies such as summer excursion to Mexico stir the curiosity of the members to further geological horizons. Earth science lecturers and social gatherings provide an exchange of interesting ideas.

Library staff — facilitators of the learning experience

Catalogue, circulate, file, stack, bind, order, and service are a few of the words indelibly etched in every librarian's mind. The library itself is the closest thing to the open classroom available. An abundance of information is ready for the asking. Each staff member is eager to help the individual student find materials in a learning-by-doing process instead of playing a game of haphazard hide and seek among the shelves. When time is of the essence and finding the right information solves half the problem, student and librarian share the ecstasy of successful research.

Exploring the realms of the hidden world

The WGC Grotto of the National Speleological Society promotes cave conservation, exploration, scientific study, and other cave activities. Members of the "caving club" receive instruction in all phases of caving, such as mountaineering, rock climbing, rope work, and surveying, and emphasis is placed on safety.

Resolved: debaters reflect WGC desire for national prominence

The West Georgia College Debate Club continues to add depth and dimension to the reputation of West Georgia's quality debate. The members exhibit their talents in public speaking in intercollegiate debate tournaments, on-campus debates and demonstration debates in the community. The club has won five trophies and the sweepstakes championship at the Sanford University Tournament — the second consecutive win for WGC in the Sanford tourney. Elliot Pood, Fort Lauderdale, senior, and Ray McConnell, Calhoun sophomore, has a 9-2 record. Pood was ranked second and McConnell fourth among the 76 debaters in the tournament. McConnell was chosen top debater at the Sanford Novice tournament. He was the only debater in the top five chosen at both tournaments. After winning the five trophies at Sanford, WGC has a total of thirty for the second year.

Advising the club are Dr. Chester Gibson and Mr. George Coulter of the Speech Department.

Freshman women establish name for themselves

Alpha Lambda Delta recognizes those women who obtain high scholastic achievement during their freshman year. The purpose of the West Georgia Chapter of this national honor society is to encourage those who make 3.5 or better average in their freshman year to continue to do so afterwards. Accordingly, the Maria Leonard Book Award is presented to the graduating senior with the highest cumulative grade point average. The members also provide a tutoring service for other students who request help with their studies.

Czech refugee speaks at Pi Gamma Mu fall initiation

Pi Gamma Mu is the national honorary for students of the social sciences — history, geography, economics, political science, sociology, and anthropology. The men and women of the West Georgia College's Georgia Zeta Chapter are juniors and seniors who reflect the purposes of the national organization — to promote interest in the social sciences and to recognize excellence in students pursuing these studies. Demonstrating the usefulness of a social science program, speakers such as a Czechoslovakian refugee are presented and field trips such as to the Federal Reserve Bank in Atlanta are planned.

Smiling faces of Greek sisters welcome independents to Panhellenic Picnic.

Council Sponsor Greek Week to Unify All Greeks

Panhellenic council, the representative body of WGC's fraternity women, coordinates the activities of the five sororities on campus. Recognizing its importance in campus life, panhellenic places incentive in the sororities by giving the Scholarship Award to the sorority with the highest average. Panhellenic involved Greek women by sponsoring a picnic for all college coeds the first of the fall quarter. The success in this unifying endeavor was evidenced by sorority-produced skits and a sing-along.

The governing body of the eight fraternal systems on WGC campus is the Interfraternal Council. The IFC is composed of two representatives and the president of each fraternity. Boosting the fraternity idea on campus, IFC works to unify the Greeks by sponsoring Greek Week and a dance.

Alpha Gams select mascot — the squirrel

Energetic Alpha Gams can be seen scampering around WGC campus gathering treasures here and there, such as the title of Miss West Georgia. Sisters have stored other honors also: Who's Who, Accolade, class officers and club officers, and little sisters in the various fraternities. With all their scurrying the sisters still have time to participate in various college activities, such as placing second in the TKE Road Rally, second in the Lambda Chi Sweepstakes, and second in the Circle K Blood Drive. Even with all this flutter of activity the sisters feel no need for hibernation. They sponsor such things as the "Toys for Tots" Drive and Alpha Gam Sweepstakes, and find time to help in the Research and Rehabilitation in areas of Cleft Palate. The Alpha Gamma Deltas have their playful side, too, as can be seen at the various parties planned by the sorority. There is a frolicsome creature on campus that remains out during the coldest months — Alpha Gamma Delta.

ATO wins National Chapter Efficiency Award 1970-72

The road through college is long with many a winding turn. For the men of Alpha Tau Omega, it leads them into brotherhood. Alpha and Omega, beginning and end; each year ATO revolves around traditional events. The brothers of ATO are not weighed down by apathy but support active campus life through top SGA posts — Rick Waites as President and Jackson Hill, Vice-President. The brothers of Alpha Tau Omega share in activities such as intramural sports, parties, and doughnut sales. Their numerous service projects include a city-wide Open House, blood drives, a can-food drive, and the Walk for Mankind. As well as the National Chapter Efficiency Award, the ATO's hold trophies in sports and awards in academics. For the past two years, ATO has placed second in intramural competition. The entire fraternity has achieved scholastic merit in recent years. Steve Ford serves as Minister of Academic Affairs. Seven ATO's are recent Who's Who and two are members of Pi Gamma Mu. To the brothers of Alpha Tau Omega, the welfare of one will continue to be the concern of all, a sentiment expressed in the words "he ain't heavy — he's my brother."

Chi Omega sisters "give a hoot" about what happens on campus

Chi Omega

The great white owl is a rare and unique species that seems to smile on the sisters of Chi Omega. The sisters have drawn from his wisdom to swoop over the campus, winning the Scholarship Award for '71-'72. However, all their time is not devoted to study. True to the nocturnal habits of the owl, the Chi O's can be seen going to "owl-hoots" enjoyed by sisters, big brothers, and beaus alike. As Christmas approaches, the sisters don their formal feathers for their Christmas gala. The sisters do arouse themselves during the daytime to participate in such worthy causes as collecting for the March of Dimes, donating blood, showing Thanksgiving kindness in the community, and participating in various campus activities. The Chi O's can ruffle their feathers with pride, for the great white owl does inhabit the WGC campus.

Chi Phi keeps ball off ground, wins intramural volleyball championship

In addition to their athletic achievement several members of the Chi Phi team are also winners scholastically. Chico Miles, Bret Rhodes, Clark Mitchell, and Don McPherson were all named to the Dean's List. Chico Miles is also a representative-at-large for the college. The Herndon Award was presented to Tommy Gladfelter and Gerry Whiteman. Chi Phi boosted the Circle K Blood Drive by having the highest percentage of its members make donations. The fraternity has served the community in other ways by participation in the Muscular Dystrophy and Toys for Tots campaigns. On the lighter side Chi Phi's are known for spiking the spirits of Greek Week by drinking the most beer. Setting up parties plays an important part in the game plan. A masquerade party at Halloween gave the title of Best Costumed Couple to Gary Sharpe and Cindy Hammond, and a Filthy 50's party allowed a timeout in the boredom of studying. President Michael Brown votes himself Brother of the Year, but the other members violently protest this idea.

On a storm-tossed afternoon the Tri-Delt Homecoming galleon '71 capsized before making the field house port. Since then the crew has rallied to plunder such riches as the National Tri-Delta Pledge-training and Song Award. Sailor Chris Adair captured Who's Who. Joan Miltiades attained the rank of Accolade. Sally Peil delegated at the Democratic National Convention, while Melanie Chapman cruised from Miss WGC to Miss World. Booty for benevolent works was found in the Cancer Society supply cache and SGA Equalizer fund. Pearls such as these form a part of the friendship string looted by Delta Delta Delta.

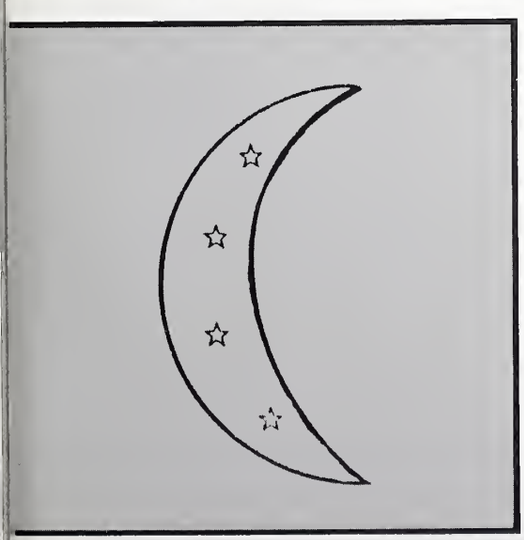
Good future seen in stars for Delta Tau Delta



As one of the newest fraternities on campus, Delta Tau Delta is launching into the full cycle of campus life. The spirit of the fraternity continues to shine, through victory and defeat, as reflected in a third-place Homecoming float, intramural sports, participation in Greek Week, Spring Fling, and the Alpha Gamma Delta Sweepstakes, and their help in the Walk for Mankind. Initiated as a colony in September '72, they are still in a beginning phase, but a house and 14 pledges add encouragement to future plans. Present activities revolve around internal unity, after which Delta Tau Deltas anticipate rising to the fullness of their purpose.

Vigorous Kappa Deltas triumph in race of Best Sorority on campus

Kappa Delta sisters can be seen participating in almost every event on campus. On the sports scene, the Kappa Deltas tackled first place in the football department, slugged it out to win first place on the softball field, and got the winning basket to chalk up another first place on the basketball court. On the racing scene, Kappa Deltas can be seen taking the lead as the flag goes up. The sisters have won the TKE Road Rally for three consecutive years, retiring the All-Greek trophy. The sisters don't spend all their time in the sports sphere, however, having time to place first in the Circle K Blood Drive, become Little Sisters, be Who's Who members, sell poppies, and maintain a high scholastic average. All these events have placed Kappa Delta in first place — for the second year — as Best Sorority on campus.

Spring Luau highlights year for Kappa Sigma

Roasting all competition, the Kappa Sigs have savored the glory of the MIA All-Sports Trophy, the Alumni Attendance Award, and a four-year first place Homecoming float. Skewering their efforts into one force, they have aided in the March of Dimes, the Blood Drive, and the Cancer Drive. The Little River Gun Club has been the scene for numerous gala affairs, including the luau and many interfraternity and sorority "beer busts." The Kappa Sigs continue to feast on accomplishments, made possible through friendship and cooperation.

Lambda Chi magic converts motel into fraternity house

Rubbing the Aladdin's lamp — a symbol appearing in the fraternity crest — produces the image of what makes up Lambda Chi. The smoke clearing leaves view of Steve Dashiell, President and Tim Curl, Vice-President, who are the leaders of the group. The activities they have conjured up include a visit to the Villa Rica Rodeo with ten children from the Family Welfare Clinic and a booth in the Cancer Society's project "Day in the Park." The members have organized a rural Volunteer Fire Department to service the surrounding community. Lambda Chi is the sponsor for an annual sweepstakes, sparking competition between the sorority girls. Some of the events include Tug-a-War, an obstacle course, and Find-the-Peanut. The genie of the lamp offers rewards for those contributing of themselves. Lambda Chi has received personal honor from helping those in need.

Pikes save lives in Red Cross Blood Drive

Helping others is the goal in the main activities of Pi Kappa Alpha, which include collecting food for needy families at Thanksgiving, providing toys for underprivileged children at Christmas, and participating in the American Red Cross Blood Drive. Their perseverance through disaster such as a damaged Homecoming float, leads them on to be rewarded by Greek Week tricycle race winner Bucky Walton, Alpha Gam Sweepstakes runner-up for Mr. Greek Body Larry Evans, Who's Who Bill Driver, UPC member and Phi Mu Beau Bill Thymer, Tri-Delta Beau Joey Godwin, and WGC basketball players Joey Godwin, Randy Roundtree, and Whit Matthews. The sturdiness of the Pikes has proven them prime contenders in intramural sports, as they have been football, track, basketball, and softball champs. Always seeking action, they continue "changing with the times."

Phi Mu ladybugs brighten world, community, and campus

The ladybug has become a common species on the West Georgia campus. Studying their exuberant activity, scientists have come to discover that ladybugs love to win the Lambda Chi Alpha Sweepstakes, sell Valentine's Day flowers, and help at a headstart Halloween party. Ladybugs have an affinity for being fraternity sweethearts; Panhellenic President; members of Alpha Lambda Delta, Union Program Council, and Who's Who. This unique campus strain is identified by its washboard band and bridge benefit for the national service project — SS Hope.

Sigma Nus bask in IFC's Best Fraternity Award

Shedding selfish goals, Sigma Nu ventured out to aid the community in such projects as Toys for Tots, the Blood Drive, and trash and light-bulb sales. However, their presence was felt on campus, too, as through venomous competition they emerged as basketball and softball intramural champs. Adding to their coil of achievements are cheerleaders Billy Harper, Mike Phillips, G. Scott, and John Pilcher; Freshman Class President Tripp House; Who's Who members John Stagmier and Tommy Akers; SGA Senator Randy Shaw; Circle K President Ricky Martin; Tri-Delt pledge beau Al Mullins; and sponsors of the All-Sing. Granted chapter status in April '72, Sigma Nus are striking out in rare form.

Crusading for the betterment of the campus and community, Tau Kappa Epsilon engaged in such activities as selling light bulbs, sponsoring a Public Relations Week and Road Rally, helping with the "clean-up Carrollton" Campaign, and hosting a Georgia-wide TEKE basketball tournament. They were honored for their service, winning the Georgia Tech TEKE Spring Fest, being runners-up for National Top TEKE Chapter, taking second place in the soap box derby during Spring Fling, winning the Greek Chariot race, and contributing the most pints of blood to the Blood Drive. The gallantry of the fraternity does not go unnoticed, as several of the members have been honored: Gordon Watson Award winner Tony Griffin, Who's Who members John Thomas and Tony Griffin, IFC officer Richard Kolousek, and Best Greek on Campus Richard Trice, also holder of the above honors.
